[CONTINUED FROM PIRST PAGE.] on various branches of this great subject are constantly offered to the Society, but it lacks the means of giving them to the public through the press. Intelligent, well-informed lecturers are wanted, to awaken public attention, to collect popular assemblies, and to enlist the sympathies of those whose avocations deny m the opportunity of reading Anti-Slavery publications. Agents are desired to aid in the formation of auxiliary societies. Editors and authors are to be enlisted in the cause; and frequently, information and statistics, to be collected at much expense of time and labor, are needed for the use of members of Congress and other public men. The instrumentalities for influencing public opinion and correcting prejudices and erroneous statements are mani-fold, but they can be wielded only be associated funds and labors.

A crisis has arrived, in which the friends of the Anti-Slavery cause should reorganize and act together. Unless they do this, their efforts to circumscribe the area of slavery, to break the fetters of the slave, and to rescue the free colored man from his present degradation, will be fruitless. Should the present mighty com-bination of capitalists, merchants, and poli-ticians, aided by a number of popular divines enlisted in their service, succeed in suppressing all manifestations of sympathy for the slave, all discussion of the abominations of slavery, all compassion for the fugitive, the North will undoubtedly be prepared to sanction the designs now entertained for the erection of New Mexico, Utah, and Southern California, into slave States, together with the annexation of Cuba. Hayti, and the Sandwich Islands, all to be added to the domain of the slaveholder. Let us never forget that duties are ours, al-though events are not; and that, whatever may be the form in which it may please Divine Providence to punish our guilty land, he requires us not only to love mercy, but to do just ice-a command we fail to obey, so long as we refuse to use lawful means to secure mercy and justice to others. Very many have no other opportunity of obeying this command. in regard to the colored race, than by their pe-cuniary contributions to the Anti-Slavery cause. The efforts of the A and F. A. S. Society are now enfeebled by the exhausted state of their treasury. APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

Friends and brethren, we appeal to you in behalf of the Society. In the language of Scripture, we exhort you to show your faith by your works. So fully aware are our enemie of the importance of influencing public opin ion by the Press, that a paper has been established at the capital of our Republic, for the single and avowed purpose of vindicating and upholding human bondage. A large portion of the newspaper press in our commercial cities is enlisted in the same emboly cause. Public rumor tells us, that a committee in the city of New York, comprising many of its wealthiest citizens, raised a fund of 100,000 dollars and knowing that opposition to slavery has its strongest fortress in the religious sentiment. this committee has spread broadcast through the land multitudes of copies of pro-slavery sermons. While the votaries of Mammon, and the aspirants to political power and emolument are thus active and zealous in supporting and extending a horrible and degrading despotism, to further their own selfish and ambitious views, will not the friends of righteousness, justice, and mercy, be up and doing we beseech you to reply, by enrolling your names among the members of the A and F A S Society, and by speedy and liberal contributions to its treasury. General SAUNDERS moved that the resolu-tions reported by the Committee on Resolutions be taken up, read, and adopted. On that motion, he demanded the previous question.

The resolutions were then taken up, and were read in a loud and distinct voice by Major B. B. French, of Washington city, (who officiated as one of the Secretaries of the Convention) The reading was frequently interrupted by cheers.

The resolutions are as follows.

The resolutions are as follows: Resolved, That the American Democracy place Resolved, That the American Democracy place their trust in the intelligence, the patriotism, and the discriminating justice of the American people.

Resolved, That we regard this as a distinctive feature of our political creed, which we are proud to maintain before the world as the great moral element in a form of government springing from and upheld by the popular will: and we contrast it with the creed and practice of Federalism, under whatever name or form, which seeks to palsy the will of the constituent, and which conscisues no investigate the constituent.

Resolved, therefore, That, entertaining these views. the Democratic party of this Union, through their delegates assembled in a general convention of the States, coming together in a spirit of concord of devotion to the doctrines and faith of a free representative Government, and appealing to their fellow-citizens for the rectitude of their intentions, renew and reassert, before the American people, the declarations of principles avowed by them when, on former occasions in general convention, they recently their

3. That the liberal principles embodied by Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence, and sanctioned in the Constitution, which makes ours the land of liberty, and the asylum of the oppressed of every nation, have ever been cardinal principles in the Democratic faith, and every attempt to abridge the privilege of becoming citizens and the owners of soil among us, ought to be resisted with the same spirit which swept the alien and sedition laws from our statute books.

Mr. FLOURNOY. I shall not trespass long upon the Convention. I am from Virginia, and I trust that that resolution restricting the States to a particular number of delegates will not be adopted. I know that at the commencement of this Convention the number of delegates sent by Virginia was objected to. I trust that the Virginia delegation have demeaned themselves before this body as gentlemen should demean them-selves. [Applause.] I trust you will not say to any State in this Union that she shall send so many delegates to the National Democratic Convention, and no more, but that the convention of each State in the Union will be left to regulate that matter for itself. If you make the recommendation, you will have the mortification of see-ing it disregarded. I therefore move to lay the

Mr. CLARK, of New York, succeeded in making himself heard, and said: I hope the motion to lay on the table will not prevail. If we are to understand from Virginia that the resolution, if adopted will not be observed, I am ready to say for New York, that in the next Convention she will have not less than one thousand delegates.

Mr. RICHARDSON, of Hilnois. We have hall harmony and concord about everything else, and now we are going to have division about something that is not worth quarreling over. [Applause.] Let us leave this question until it is necessary to determine it. I am always glad to see Democrats, be they many or few. [Applause.] This question involves no principle. Virginia with her ninety-four delegates has cast but 15 votes and Illinois with her twenty-two delegates votes, and Illinois with her twenty-two delegates has given but 11 votes. Am I to be told then that it is a question of such wital importance that we must now quarrel about it? It is a bone of contention that ought not to have been thrown in here. When the committee meets to determine the time and place for holding the next National Demo-cratic Convention, let them determine how the States shall be represented—"sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Mr. McCOOK, of Oaio. They say to us that Virginia will have as many delegates as Virginia pleases in the next National Convention. I acknowledge the right of a State to refuse to go with her sister States into the National Conven-tion, and Virginia has that right. The resolution merely proposes that a Stare—whether it be Virginia, or Illinois, or any other—shall only have twice the number of delegates that she is entitled to votes in the electoral college. This Convention has seen the bad effects of these crowded delegations. This mass meeting—this mere mob, is indicative of what the next National Convention will be. I admit that the Virginia delegation have behaved on this floor as gentlemen should behave, and I am sure they are all gentlemen. The delegation from Illinois have so behaved; but I say that again and again votes have been demanded by States, and refused, because the Chair did not hear the desay, i.e. cause the Chair did not hear the demand in the confusion that prevailed.
